ANTI-DISCRIMINATION ACT 1991

[as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before 8 December 2003]

An Act to promote equality of opportunity for everyone by protecting them from unfair discrimination in certain areas of activity and from sexual harassment and certain associated objectionable conduct

Parliament's reasons for enacting this Act are—

1. The international community has long recognised the need to protect and preserve the principles of dignity and equality for everyone.

2. This is reflected in a number of international human rights instruments that the Commonwealth has ratified, including—

- the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination
- the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women
- the International Labour Organisation Convention No. 111—Discrimination (Employment and Occupation)
- the International Labour Organisation Convention No. 156—Workers with Family Responsibilities
- the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights
- the Convention on the Rights of the Child
- the Declaration on the Rights of Mentally Retarded Persons
- the Declaration on the Rights of Disabled Persons.

3. The Parliament is supportive of the Commonwealth's ratification of these international instruments.

4. In fulfilling its obligations under these international instruments the Commonwealth has enacted certain human rights legislation.

5. The Parliament is satisfied that there is a need—

- (a) to extend the Commonwealth legislation; and
- (b) to apply anti-discrimination law consistently throughout the State; and
- (c) to ensure that determinations of unlawful conduct are enforceable in the courts of law.

6. The Parliament considers that—

- (a) everyone should be equal before and under the law and have the right to equal protection and equal benefit of the law without discrimination; and
- (b) the protection of fragile freedoms is best effected by legislation that reflects the aspirations and needs of contemporary society; and
- (c) the quality of democratic life is improved by an educated community appreciative and respectful of the dignity and worth of everyone.

7. It is, therefore, the intention of the Parliament to make provision, by the special measures enacted by the Act, for the promotion of equality of opportunity for everyone by protecting them from unfair discrimination in certain areas of activity and from sexual harassment and certain associated objectionable conduct.

CHAPTER 1—PRELIMINARY

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991.

3 Act binds Crown

This Act binds—

- (a) the Crown in right of Queensland; and

- (b) the Crown in all its other capacities so far as the legislative power of the Parliament allows.

3A Application of Act to ships connected with Queensland

(1) Without limiting the extent to which this Act may otherwise apply, it is declared that this Act applies to acts done on ships connected with Queensland.

(2) However, subsection (1) does not limit the laws of Queensland providing for the application of the criminal law to offences committed at sea.¹

(3) For this section, a ship is a ship connected with Queensland if—

- (a) it is registered under the Shipping Registration Act 1981 (Cwlth) with a home port in Queensland; or
- (b) it is, or is required to be, registered or licensed under the Transport Operations (Marine Safety) Act 1994 or another Act; or
- (c) it is owned or chartered by—
 - (i) an individual whose place of residence, or principal place of residence, is in Queensland; or
 - (ii) a person whose place of business, or principal place of business, is in Queensland; or
 - (iii) a person whose principal place of business for managing the ship's operations is in Queensland.

4 Definitions

The dictionary in the schedule defines particular words used in this Act.

4A Meaning of “public act”

(1) A “public act” includes—

- (a) any form of communication to the public, including by speaking, writing, printing, displaying notices, broadcasting, telecasting,

screening or playing of tapes or other recorded material, or by electronic means; and

- (b) any conduct that is observable by the public, including actions, gestures and the wearing or display of clothing, signs, flags, emblems or insignia.

(2) Despite anything in subsection (1), a “public act” does not include the distribution or dissemination of any matter by a person to the public if the person does not know, and could not reasonably be expected to know, the content of the matter.

5 Meaning of unjustifiable hardship

Whether the supply of special services or facilities would impose unjustifiable hardship on a person depends on all the relevant circumstances of the case, including, for example—

- (a) the nature of the special services or facilities; and
- (b) the cost of supplying the special services or facilities and the number of people who would benefit or be disadvantaged; and
- (c) the financial circumstances of the person; and
- (d) the disruption that supplying the special services or facilities might cause; and
- (e) the nature of any benefit or detriment to all people concerned.

Example of application in the work area (section 35)—

Company R refuses to employ A who uses a wheelchair because there is no appropriate access to the place of employment. R may only discriminate against A on the basis of impairment if supplying access would be very expensive or would impose another significant hardship on R.

CHAPTER 2—DISCRIMINATION PROHIBITED BY THIS ACT (COMPLAINT)

PART 1—ACT’S ANTI-DISCRIMINATION PURPOSE

6 Act’s anti-discrimination purpose and how it is to be achieved

(1) One of the purposes of the Act is to promote equality of opportunity for everyone by protecting them from unfair discrimination in certain areas of activity, including work, education and accommodation.

(2) This purpose is to be achieved by—

- (a) prohibiting discrimination that is—
 - (i) on a ground set out in part 2; and
 - (ii) of a type set out in part 3; and
 - (iii) in an area of activity set out in part 4;

unless an exemption set out in part 4 or 5 applies; and

PART 2—PROHIBITED GROUNDS OF DISCRIMINATION

7 Discrimination on the basis of certain attributes prohibited

The Act prohibits discrimination on the basis of the following attributes—

- (a) sex;
- (b) relationship status;
- (c) pregnancy;

- (d) parental status;
- (e) breastfeeding;
- (f) age;
- (g) race;
- (h) impairment;
- (i) religious belief or religious activity;
- (j) political belief or activity;
- (k) trade union activity;
- (l) lawful sexual activity;
- (m) gender identity;
- (n) sexuality;
- (o) family responsibilities;
- (p) association with, or relation to, a person identified on the basis of any of the above attributes.

8 Meaning of discrimination on the basis of an attribute

Discrimination on the basis of an attribute includes direct and indirect discrimination on the basis of—

- (a) a characteristic that a person with any of the attributes generally has; or
- (b) a characteristic that is often imputed to a person with any of the attributes; or
- (c) an attribute that a person is presumed to have, or to have had at any time, by the person discriminating; or
- (d) an attribute that a person had, even if the person did not have it at the time of the discrimination.

Example of paragraph (c)—

If an employer refused to consider a written application from a person called Viv because it assumed Viv was female, the employer would have discriminated on the basis of an attribute (female sex) that Viv (a male) was presumed to have.

PART 3—PROHIBITED TYPES OF DISCRIMINATION

9 Discrimination of certain types prohibited

The Act prohibits the following types of discrimination—

- (a) direct discrimination;
- (b) indirect discrimination.

10 Meaning of direct discrimination

(1) Direct discrimination on the basis of an attribute happens if a person treats, or proposes to treat, a person with an attribute less favourably than another person without the attribute is or would be treated in circumstances that are the same or not materially different.

Example—

R refuses to rent a flat to C because—

- C is English and R doesn't like English people
- C's friend, B, is English and R doesn't like English people
- R believes that English people are unreliable tenants.

In each case, R discriminates against C, whether or not R's belief about C's or B's nationality, or the characteristics of people of that nationality, is correct.

(2) It is not necessary that the person who discriminates considers the treatment is less favourable.

(3) The person's motive for discriminating is irrelevant.

Example—

R refuses to employ C, who is Chinese, not because R dislikes Chinese people, but because R knows that C would be treated badly by other staff, some of whom are prejudiced against Asian people. R's conduct amounts to discrimination against C.

(4) If there are 2 or more reasons why a person treats, or proposes to treat, another person with an attribute less favourably, the person treats the other person less favourably on the basis of the attribute if the attribute is a substantial reason for the treatment.

(5) In determining whether a person treats, or proposes to treat a person with an impairment less favourably than another person is or would be treated in circumstances that are the same or not materially different, the fact that the person with the impairment may require special services or facilities is irrelevant.

11 Meaning of indirect discrimination

(1) Indirect discrimination on the basis of an attribute happens if a person imposes, or proposes to impose, a term—

- (a) with which a person with an attribute does not or is not able to comply; and
- (b) with which a higher proportion of people without the attribute comply or are able to comply; and
- (c) that is not reasonable.

(2) Whether a term is reasonable depends on all the relevant circumstances of the case, including, for example—

- (a) the consequences of failure to comply with the term; and
- (b) the cost of alternative terms; and
- (c) the financial circumstances of the person who imposes, or proposes to impose, the term.

(3) It is not necessary that the person imposing, or proposing to impose, the term is aware of the indirect discrimination.

(4) In this section—

“term” includes condition, requirement or practice, whether or not written.

Example 1—

An employer decides to employ people who are over 190 cm tall, although height is not pertinent to effective performance of the work. This disadvantages women and people of Asian origin, as there are more men of non-Asian origin who can comply. The discrimination is unlawful because the height requirement is unreasonable, there being no genuine occupational reason to justify it.

Example 2—

An employer requires employees to wear a uniform, including a cap, for appearance reasons, not for hygiene or safety reasons. The requirement is not directly discriminatory, but it has a discriminatory effect against people who are required by religious or cultural beliefs to wear particular headdress.

- (b) the consequences for both the person and the employer should the discrimination happen or not happen.

(1) The commissioner may accept a complaint from a person who had previously agreed with another person not to complain, if the commissioner is of the reasonable opinion that it is fair to accept the complaint.

(2) In assessing whether it is fair to accept the complaint, the commissioner is to consider all the relevant circumstances of the case including—

- (b) what the person who wishes to complain received in return for the agreement.

(b) being a respondent to such a complaint; and

- (c) involvement in a prosecution for an offence against the Act; and
- (d) giving information or documents to a person who is performing a function under the Act; and
- (e) appearing as a witness in a proceeding under the Act.

192 Publication of evidence may be restricted

(1) The tribunal may order that any oral or documentary evidence must not be published, except as directed by the tribunal.

(2) A person must not contravene an order.

Maximum penalty—

- (a) in the case of an individual—35 penalty units;
- (b) in the case of a corporation—170 penalty units.

(3) It is an excuse to an offence against subsection (2) if the defendant has a reasonable excuse.

193 Complainant may withdraw complaint

(1) The tribunal is not to continue to deal with a complaint if the complainant, or the person who authorised the complaint to be made, gives written notice that the person does not want to continue with the complaint.

(2) The complaint then lapses.

(3) The tribunal is to write to the respondent as soon as practicable to tell the respondent that the complaint has lapsed.

Subdivision 2—Representative complaints

194 Representative complaints

If a complaint alleges that the respondent contravened the Act against a number of people, the tribunal must determine, as a preliminary matter, whether the complaint should be dealt with by it as a representative complaint.

195 Criteria for determining whether representative complaint

(1) The tribunal may deal with a complaint as a representative complaint if the tribunal is satisfied that—

- (a) the complainant is a member of a class of people, the members of which have been affected, or are reasonably likely to be affected by, the respondent's conduct; and
- (b) the complainant has been affected by the respondent's conduct; and
- (c) the class is so numerous that joinder of all of its members is impracticable; and
- (d) there are questions of law or fact common to all members of the class; and
- (e) the material allegations in the complaint are the same as, or similar or related to, the material allegations in relation to the other members of the class; and
- (f) the respondent has acted on grounds apparently applying to the class as a whole.

(2) If the tribunal is satisfied that—

- (a) the complaint is made in good faith as a representative complaint; and
- (b) the justice of the case demands that the matter be dealt with by means of a representative complaint;

the tribunal may deal with the complaint as a representative complaint even if the criteria set out in subsection (1) have not been satisfied.

196 Amendment resulting in representative complaint

If the tribunal is satisfied that a complaint could be dealt with as a representative complaint if the class of complainants was increased, reduced or otherwise altered, the tribunal may amend the complaint so that the complaint can be dealt with as a representative complaint.

197 Amendment resulting in nonrepresentative complaint

If the tribunal is satisfied that a complaint has been wrongly made as a representative complaint, the tribunal may amend the complaint by removing the names of any of the complainants so that the complaint can be dealt with as a complaint otherwise than as a representative complaint.

198 Directions about conduct of representative complaint

The tribunal may give directions concerning the conduct of a representative complaint.

199 Representative complainant must choose

A complainant in relation to a representative complaint must choose whether to—

- (a) proceed before the tribunal as a party to the representative complaint; or
- (b) make an individual complaint.

200 Nonrepresentative complaint not precluded by representative complaint

If a representative complaint is made in respect of certain conduct, a person who is not a complainant in relation to the representative complaint, may make a complaint (other than a representative complaint) in respect of the conduct.

Division 2—The hearing process

201 Tribunal's powers relating to attendance at hearing and evidence

- (1) The tribunal may order any person in writing—
 - (a) to attend a hearing until excused; or
 - (b) to give evidence, on oath or affirmation; or
 - (c) to give to the tribunal a document, or class of documents, specified in the order.
- (2) If documents are given to the tribunal, the tribunal—
 - (a) may take possession of, and may copy or take extracts from, the documents; and

- (b) may retain possession of the documents for such period as is reasonably necessary; and
- (c) during that period, must allow a person who, if the documents were not in the possession of the tribunal, would be entitled to inspect any of them, to inspect that document at all reasonable times.

(3) The tribunal may enforce the order by filing a copy of it with a court of competent jurisdiction.

(4) The order is then enforceable as if it were an order of the court.

(5) A person is not required to give evidence or a document if the person objects on the ground of legal professional privilege that the person would be entitled to claim if—

- (a) the person were a witness in a prosecution for an offence in the Supreme Court; and
- (b) the person were required to give the evidence or document in the prosecution.

(6) The reference to any person in subsection (1) includes a reference to any person the tribunal considers should attend the hearing, whether or not a party to the hearing requires the person as a witness.

202 Party fails to attend hearing

(1) If a complainant, without reasonable excuse, does not attend a hearing, the tribunal may dismiss the complaint and order the complainant to pay costs to the respondent.

(2) If a respondent, without reasonable excuse, does not attend a hearing, the tribunal may do 1 or both of the following—

- (a) proceed with the hearing in the respondent's absence;
- (b) make such order as it considers appropriate, including an order that the respondent pay costs to the complainant.

(3) A party may enforce an order made under this section by filing a copy of it with a court of competent jurisdiction.

(4) The order is then enforceable as if it were an order of the court.

203 Hearings to be public

Hearings are to be held in public unless the tribunal directs that all or part of a hearing be conducted in private—

- (a) either of the tribunal's own motion; or
- (b) at the request of either the complainant or the respondent, if the tribunal is satisfied that it is appropriate to do so.

204 Burden of proof—general principle

It is for the complainant to prove, on the balance of probabilities, that the respondent contravened the Act, subject to the requirements in sections 205 and 206.

205 Burden of proof—indirect discrimination

In a case involving an allegation of indirect discrimination, the respondent must prove, on the balance of probabilities, that a term complained of is reasonable.

206 Burden of proof—exemptions

If the respondent wishes to rely on an exemption, the respondent must raise the issue and prove, on the balance of probabilities, that it applies.

207 Commissioner may provide investigation reports

(1) The commissioner may give the tribunal a report relating to the investigation of a complaint which the tribunal is hearing.

(2) The report must not contain a record of oral statements made by any person in the course of conciliation.

(3) The commissioner must give a copy of the report provided to the tribunal, to the complainant and the respondent.

208 Evaluation of evidence

(1) The tribunal is not bound by the rules of evidence and—

- (a) must have regard to the reasons for the enactment of this Act as stated in the preamble; and

- (b) may inform itself on any matter as it considers appropriate; and
- (c) must act according to equity, good conscience and the substantial merits of the case without regard to technicalities and legal forms; and
- (d) must conduct itself in a way that will enable costs or delay to be reduced and will help to achieve a prompt hearing of the matters at issue between the parties; and
- (e) may give directions relating to procedure that, in its opinion, will enable costs or delay to be reduced and will help to achieve a prompt hearing of the matters at issue between the parties; and
- (f) may draw conclusions of fact from any proceeding before a court or tribunal; and
- (g) may adopt any findings or decisions of a court or tribunal that may be relevant to the hearing; and
- (h) may receive in evidence a report of the commissioner, but only if the commissioner has provided a copy to each party to the hearing; and
- (i) may permit any person with an interest in the proceeding to give evidence; and
- (j) may hold a hearing in the absence of a party who was given reasonable notice to attend, but failed to do so without providing a good reason; and
- (k) may permit the commissioner to give evidence on any issue arising in the course of a proceeding that relates to the administration of the Act.

(2) Nothing said or done in the course of conciliation can be admitted as evidence in a hearing before the tribunal.

Division 3—The post-hearing process

209 Orders the tribunal may make if complaint is proven

(1) If the tribunal decides that the respondent contravened the Act, the tribunal may make 1 or more of the following orders—

Anti-Discrimination Act 1991

- (a) an order requiring the respondent not to commit a further contravention of the Act against the complainant or another person specified in the order;
- (b) an order requiring the respondent to pay to the complainant or another person, within a specified period, an amount the tribunal considers appropriate as compensation for loss or damage caused by the contravention;

- (g) an order requiring a party to pay interest on an amount of compensation;
- (h) an order declaring void all or part of an agreement made in connection with a contravention of this Act, either from the time the agreement was made or subsequently.

(2) A respondent must comply with an order of the tribunal under subsection (1)(a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) or (g).

Maximum penalty—

- (a) in the case of an individual—35 penalty units;
- (b) in the case of a corporation—170 penalty units.

(3) An order may be made under subsection (1)(b) in favour of a person on whose behalf a representative complaint was made, without the necessity for the person to make an individual complaint, if on the evidence before it the tribunal is able to assess the loss or damage of the person.

(4) If, in respect of a representative complaint—

- (a) the tribunal decides that the respondent contravened the Act; but

- (b) the tribunal is unable, on the evidence before it at the hearing of the representative complaint, to assess the loss or damage of a person on whose behalf the complaint was made;

the person may subsequently make a request for the tribunal to assess the person's loss or damage.

(5) In this section, the specified things a respondent may be required to do, include, but are not limited to—

- (a) employing, reinstating or re-employing a person; or
(b) promoting a person; or
(c) moving a person to a specified position within a specified time.

(6) In this section—

“damage”, in relation to a person, includes the offence, embarrassment, humiliation, and intimidation suffered by the person.

210 Tribunal may dismiss complaint

After a hearing, the tribunal may make an order dismissing a complaint.

211 Written reasons for orders

(1) The complainant or the respondent may ask the tribunal for written reasons for an order.

(2) If requested, the tribunal must provide the written reasons within 28 days of receiving a request.

212 Enforcement of orders

(1) A person may enforce an order of the tribunal (other than an order entitling the person to payment) by filing with a court of competent jurisdiction a copy of the order certified as a true copy by the registrar.

(2) A person who is entitled to payment under an order may enforce the order by filing with a court of competent jurisdiction—

- (a) a copy of the order, certified as a true copy by the registrar; and
(b) an affidavit stating the amount remaining unpaid.

(3) An order is then enforceable as if it were an order of the court.

213 Costs

(1) The tribunal may order a party to pay such costs as the tribunal considers reasonable.

(2) However, costs must be assessed using the scale of costs for the District Court under the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 1999 unless the tribunal is satisfied that, because of the complexity of the matter, or because of another reason, costs should be assessed using a higher scale.

(3) In deciding whether to order a party to pay costs, the tribunal may have regard to—

- (a) the reasons for the enactment of this Act as stated in the preamble, and whether these reasons would be compromised or defeated in ordering the party to pay costs; and
- (b) the fairness of a costs order, having regard to the following—
 - (i) whether a party has conducted the proceeding in a way that unnecessarily disadvantaged another party to the proceeding, including, for example, by—
 - (A) failing to comply with an order or direction of the tribunal without reasonable excuse; or
 - (B) failing to comply with this Act; or
 - (C) asking for an adjournment as a result of subsubparagraph (A) or (B); or
 - (D) causing an adjournment; or
 - (E) attempting to deceive another party or the tribunal; or

 - (iii) the relative strengths of the claims made by each of the parties;
 - (iv) whether a party reasonably believed there had been a contravention of this Act;
 - (v) the nature and complexity of the proceeding;
 - (vi) any other matter the tribunal considers relevant.

(4) Subsection (3) does not limit subsection (1).

Example of operation of this section—

The tribunal may consider it not to be appropriate to order costs if the subject matter involves issues of particular complexity or if the decision may establish important precedents in the interpretation or application of this Act.

Division 3A—Offers to settle

213A Presumption of order for costs if offer to settle is rejected

(1) This section applies if—

- (a) a party to a proceeding before the tribunal gives another party an offer in writing to settle the proceeding; and
- (b) the other party does not accept the offer while the offer is open; and
- (c) the offer complies with any requirements of this division for an offer to settle; and
- (d) in the tribunal's opinion, the orders made by the tribunal in the proceeding are not more favourable to the other party than the offer.

(2) If the tribunal considers it reasonable to do so, it may make an order in favour of the party who made the offer requiring the other party to pay all costs incurred by the offering party after the offer was made.

(3) In making an order under subsection (2), the tribunal may have regard to the matters mentioned in section 213(3).

(4) In deciding whether its orders are or are not more favourable to a party than an offer, the tribunal—

- (a) must take into account any costs it would have ordered on the date the offer was made; and
- (b) must disregard any interest or costs it orders for any period after the date the offer was received.

213B Offer to settle

213C Acceptance of offer to settle

(1) An offer to settle must be open for acceptance until immediately before the tribunal makes any order under section 209 or 210, or until the expiry of a stated period after the offer is made, whichever happens first.

(2) The stated period must be at least 14 days.

(3) Without the permission of the tribunal, an offer to settle can not be withdrawn, whether or not to make a new offer, while it is open for acceptance.

(4) For the decision of whether to give permission under subsection (3)—

(a) the tribunal must be constituted by a member who is not the member constituting the tribunal for the proceeding generally; and

(b) the tribunal may examine the offer to settle.

(5) A party can only accept an offer to settle by giving the party who made it a signed notice of acceptance.

(6) A party may accept an offer to settle even though it has made a counteroffer.

213D Consequences if accepted offer is not complied with

If an offer to settle is accepted, but the party who made the offer does not comply with its terms, the tribunal, on the application of the party who accepted the offer, may—

(a) make an order giving effect to the terms of the offer; or

14 Section 209 (Orders the tribunal may make if complaint is proven) or 210 (Tribunal may dismiss complaint)
