- shows the law as amended by all amendments that commenced on or before that day (Reprints Act 1992 s 5(c))
- incorporates all necessary consequential amendments, whether of punctuation, numbering or another kind (Reprints Act 1992 s 5(d)).

The reprint includes a reference to the law by which each amendment was made—see list of legislation and list of annotations in endnotes. Also see list of legislation for any uncommenced amendments.

Minor editorial changes allowed under the provisions of the Reprints Act 1992 mentioned in the following list have also been made to—

- use standard punctuation consistent with current drafting practice (s 27)
- use aspects of format and printing style consistent with current drafting practice (s 35).

This page is specific to this reprint. See previous reprints for information about earlier changes made under the Reprints Act 1992. A table of reprints is included in the endnotes.

Dates shown on reprints

Reprints dated at last amendment All reprints produced on or after 1 July 2002, hard copy and electronic, are dated as at the last date of amendment. Previously reprints were dated as at the date of publication. If a hard copy reprint is dated earlier than an electronic version published before 1 July 2002, it means the legislation was not further amended and the reprint date is the commencement of the last amendment.

If the date of a hard copy reprint is the same as the date shown for an electronic version previously published, it merely means that the electronic version was published before the hard copy version. Also, any revised edition of the previously published electronic version will have the same date as that version.

Replacement reprint date If the date of a hard copy reprint is the same as the date shown on another hard copy reprint it means that one is the replacement of the other.

An Act to regulate certain activities involving the use of human embryos, to prohibit human cloning for reproduction and other unacceptable practices associated with reproductive technology, and for related purposes

Part 1 Preliminary

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Research Involving Human Embryos and Prohibition of Human Cloning for Reproduction Act 2003.

2 Commencement

- (1) This Act, other than part 6, division 1, commences on a day to be fixed by proclamation.
- (2) Part 6, division 1, commences on whichever of the following days applies—
 - (a) 5 April 2005;
 - (b) if the Council of Australian Governments declares an earlier day by notice in the gazette—that earlier day.

3 Object of Act

The object of this Act is to address concerns, including ethical concerns, about scientific developments in relation to human reproduction and the utilisation of human embryos—

- (a) by prohibiting certain practices; and
- (b) by regulating activities that involve the use of certain human embryos created by assisted reproductive technology or by other means.

4 Act binds all persons

- (1) This Act binds all persons, including the State, and, as far as the legislative power of the Parliament permits, the Commonwealth and the other States.
- (2) Nothing in this Act makes the Commonwealth or a State liable to be prosecuted for an offence.

5 Definitions

- (1) The dictionary in the schedule defines particular words used in this Act.
- (2) For the purposes of establishing that a human embryo clone is a genetic copy of a living or dead human—
 - (a) it is sufficient to establish that the set of genes in the nuclei of the cells of the living or dead human has been copied; and
 - (b) it is not necessary to establish that the copy is an identical genetic copy.
- (3) For the purposes of the definition human embryo in the schedule, in working out the length of the period of development of a human embryo, any period when the development of the embryo is suspended is to be disregarded.
- (4) For the purposes of the definition human embryo clone in the schedule, a human embryo that results from the technological process known as embryo splitting is taken not to be created by a process of fertilisation of a human egg by human sperm.

- (5) A reference in this Act to an embryo (including a human embryo) is a reference to a living embryo.
- (6) A reference in this Act to a human egg is a reference to a human oocyte.
- (7) A reference in this Act to a human embryo does not include a reference to—
 - (a) a hybrid embryo; or
 - (b) a human embryonic stem cell line.
- (8) The following provisions of the Acts Interpretation Act 1954 do not apply to a reference to a spouse in this Act—
 - section 32DA(6)
 - section 36, definition spouse.

6 Meaning of reckless

- (1) A person is reckless in relation to a circumstance if—
 - (a) the person is aware of a substantial risk that the circumstance exists or will exist; and
 - (b) having regard to the circumstances known to the person, it is unjustifiable to take the risk.
