   (e) providing public service employees with safe and healthy working conditions; and
   (f) giving public service employees reasonable access to appropriate training and development; and
   (g) remunerating public service employees at rates appropriate to the responsibilities undertaken by public service employees; and
   (h) avoiding nepotism and patronage.

\(^{12}\) See section 78 (Selection for appointment to be on merit).
Principles of work performance and personal conduct

25. In recognition that public service employment involves a public trust, a public service employee’s work performance and personal conduct must be directed towards—

(a) achieving excellence in service delivery; and
(b) ensuring the effective, efficient, economical and appropriate use of public resources; and
(c) giving effect to Government policies and priorities; and
(d) providing sound and impartial advice to the Government; and
(e) improving all aspects of the employee’s work performance; and

(g) observing all laws relevant to the employment; and
(h) ensuring that the employee’s personal conduct does not reflect adversely on the reputation of the public service.

Additional principle of senior executive service employment

26. Employment in the senior executive service is to be directed towards ensuring that senior executives—

(a) develop a public service wide perspective; and
(b) continue their executive development; and
(c) develop their skills through their deployment within and outside the public service.
PART 4—ADMINISTRATION OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE

Division 1—Premier’s supervision

Premier’s role in relation to public service

27.(1) The Premier has the following functions—

(a) to promote the overall effectiveness, efficiency and economy of the public service;

(b) to assess the effectiveness, efficiency, economy and appropriateness of management in the public service, and in particular departments or parts of departments;

(c) to advise departmental Ministers about steps that should be taken to improve public service effectiveness, efficiency and economy.

(2) Subsection (1) does not limit the functions the Premier has apart from this section, or require the Premier to carry out any particular action.

Obtaining reports about principles of management and employment

28.(1) The Premier may require the chief executive of a department to give the Premier a report about specified aspects of the department’s application of the principles of public service management and employment stated in part 3.

(2) The report must be given to the Premier within the time the Premier requires.

Management reviews

29.(1) The Premier may authorise a person (the “authorised person”) to conduct a review of functions or activities of a public sector unit.

(2) Before or after authorising a person to conduct the review, the Premier may—

(a) inform the departmental Minister and the chief executive of the public sector unit about the review; and

(b) give the chief executive an opportunity to nominate a stated number of employees of the public sector unit to take part in the review.

(3) The authorised person—

(a) must produce the person’s authority if asked by someone concerned in the review; and

(b) may, for the purpose of conducting the review—

(i) enter official premises of the public sector unit at any reasonable time; and

(ii) require the production of, examine, copy, or take an extract from, any official document in the possession of the public sector unit; and

(iii) interview employees of the public sector unit; and

(iv) interview anyone else who can provide information relevant to the review; and

(c) must give the Premier a report on the review, including any findings or recommendations.

Example of another person who can provide information—

A client of services provided by the public sector unit.

(4) The chief executive of the public sector unit and every other employee of a public sector unit must give to the authorised person the help the person reasonably requires to conduct the review.

(5) Without limiting subsection (4), the authorised person may require an employee of a public sector unit to answer any question relevant to the review.

(6) However, the employee need not answer the question if—

(a) the employee objects to answering the question because answering it might tend to incriminate the employee of a criminal offence; and

(b) the employee would have a claim of privilege against self-incrimination in relation to a criminal offence if the employee were asked the question in a Supreme Court action.

(7) The Premier may give a copy of the report to the departmental Minister and chief executive, and anyone else the Premier considers appropriate.

(8) This section does not prevent the Premier from authorising a single review for 2 or more public sector units.

(9) In this section—

“official document in the possession of the public sector unit” includes an official document—

(a) under its control or to which it is entitled to access, whether or not created in the public sector unit; and

(b) in the possession, or under the control, of an employee of the public sector unit in the employee’s official capacity.

Regulation of numbers of public service employees

30.(1) The Premier may, by gazette notice, fix the maximum number of public service employees (other than senior executives) that may be employed in a department.

(2) The maximum number fixed must be the number the Premier considers necessary for the effective, efficient, economical and appropriate performance of the department’s functions.

(3) The maximum number must be calculated in the way the Premier directs in the notice.

Example—

The Premier may direct that the maximum number must be calculated on the basis of full-time equivalents.

(4) The Premier must give a copy of the notice to—

(a) the person has turned 55; or
(b) the person is permitted to retire under a directive.

PART 6—DISCIPLINARY ACTION

Grounds for discipline

87.(1) The employing authority may discipline an officer if the authority is reasonably satisfied that the officer has—

(a) performed the officer’s duties carelessly, incompetently or inefficiently; or
(b) been guilty of misconduct; or
(c) been absent from duty without approved leave and without reasonable excuse; or
(d) contravened, without reasonable excuse, a direction given to the officer as an officer by a person with authority to give the direction (whether the authority derives from this Act or otherwise); or
(e) used, without reasonable excuse, a substance to an extent that has adversely affected the competent performance of the officer’s duties; or
(f) contravened, without reasonable excuse, a provision of this Act or a code of conduct.

(2) In this section—

“code of conduct” means a code of conduct—

(a) approved under the Public Sector Ethics Act 1994; or
(b) prescribed under a directive of the commissioner.

“misconduct” means—

(a) disgraceful or improper conduct in an official capacity; or
(b) disgraceful or improper conduct in a private capacity that reflects seriously and adversely on the public service.

Example of misconduct—

Victimising another public service employee in the course of the other employee’s employment in the public service.

Disciplinary action that may be taken

88.(1) In disciplining an officer, the employing authority may take the action, or order the action be taken, that the authority considers reasonable in the circumstances.

(2) However, the employing authority must comply with this Act and any relevant directive of the commissioner.

(3) The authority may, for example, do any 1 or more of the following—

(a) terminate the officer’s employment;
(b) reduce the officer’s classification level and change the officer’s duties accordingly;
(c) transfer or redeploy the officer to other employment in the public service;
(d) forfeit or defer a remuneration increment or increase of the officer;
(e) reduce the level of the officer’s remuneration;
(f) impose a penalty on the officer of not more than the total of 2 of the officer’s periodic remuneration payments;
(g) direct that a penalty imposed on the officer be deducted from the officer’s periodic remuneration payments;
(h) reprimand the officer.

(4) An amount directed to be deducted under subsection (3)(g) from any particular periodic remuneration payment of the officer must not be more than half of the amount payable to or for the officer in relation to the payment and must not reduce the amount of salary payable to the officer in relation to the period to less than—

(a) for an officer who has no dependant—two-thirds of the guaranteed minimum wage for each week of the period; or
(b) for an officer who has a dependant—the guaranteed minimum wage for each week of the period.

(5) An order under subsection (1) is binding on all persons affected by it.

Suspension of officer from duty

89.(1) The employing authority may suspend an officer from duty if the authority reasonably believes—

(a) the officer is liable to discipline; and

(b) the proper and efficient management of the officer’s department might be prejudiced if the officer were not suspended.

(2) The authority may cancel an officer’s suspension from duty at any time.

Procedure for disciplinary action

90.(1) In disciplining or suspending an officer, the employing authority must comply with this Act, any relevant directive of the commissioner, and the principles of natural justice.

(2) However, natural justice is not required for the suspension of an officer on full remuneration.

Additional procedures for suspension or termination

91.(1) If the employing authority decides to suspend or terminate the employment of an officer, the authority must give the officer written notice of the suspension or termination.

(2) The notice must state—

(a) for a suspension notice—the suspension period and the day when it takes effect; or

(b) for a termination notice—the day when it takes effect.
Effect of suspension from duty

92.(1) An officer suspended from duty under this part is entitled to full remuneration for the period for which the officer is suspended, unless the employing authority otherwise decides.

(2) If the officer is suspended without full remuneration, the authority cancels the officer’s suspension and the officer resumes duty, then, unless the authority otherwise decides, the officer is entitled to be paid the prescribed remuneration to which the officer would have been entitled apart from the suspension, less any amount earned by the officer from additional employment undertaken during the suspension period.

(3) In this section—

“prescribed remuneration” means the remuneration prescribed under a directive.

PART 7—APPEALS

Appeals to commissioner

93. A person may appeal to the commissioner against a decision if—

(a) an appeal may be made against the decision under section 94; and

(b) the person is entitled to appeal against the decision under section 96.

Decisions against which appeals may be made

94.(1) An appeal may be made to the commissioner against the following decisions—

22 Section 96 (Who may appeal against decisions)
(b) a decision under a disciplinary law to discipline a person (other than by termination of employment), including the action taken in disciplining the person;

(c) a decision to promote an officer (a “promotion decision”);

(d) a decision about anything else against which another Act allows a person to appeal to the commissioner.

(2) However, an appeal may not be made against a decision if section 95 applies to the decision.

Decisions against which appeals may not be made

95.(1) A person can not appeal to the commissioner against any of the following decisions—

(g) a decision to promote, transfer, redeploy or second a person to be or as a chief executive, a senior executive or a senior officer;

(h) a non-appealable appointment.

(2) A person can not appeal against, or in an appeal call in question in any way, a decision that decides the policy, strategy, nature, scope, resourcing or direction of the public service or a department.

(3) A person can not appeal against a decision to promote an officer if—

(a) the officer had been redeployed within 1 year before the promotion; and
(b) the promotion is to a classification level that is not higher than the officer’s classification level immediately before the redeployment.

(4) In addition, a person can not appeal against a decision if—

(a) the parties to the appeal would include—
   (i) the commissioner; or
   (ii) an employee of the office of the public service commissioner; or

(b) it is a matter that has been heard by the Industrial Relations Commission.23

(5) In this section—

“non-appealable appointment” means an appointment—

(a) for which the commissioner is satisfied that merit in selection processes is sufficiently protected by ways other than an appeal under this part; and

(b) that the commissioner has declared by gazette notice to be an appointment against which an appeal may not be made.

Who may appeal against decisions

96. The following persons may appeal against a decision to the commissioner—

(a) for a decision mentioned in section 94(1)(a)24—an officer aggrieved by the decision if the officer is entitled to appeal under a directive of the commissioner;

(b) for a decision mentioned in section 94(1)(b)25—an officer aggrieved by the decision to discipline the officer if the officer is entitled to appeal under a directive of the commissioner;

23 Under section 106 (Jurisdiction of Industrial Relations Commission), the Industrial Relations Commission has jurisdiction to hear and decide a matter mentioned in this subsection.

24 Section 94(1)(a) is about decisions to take, or not take, action under a directive.

25 Section 94(1)(b) is about disciplinary decisions.
(c) for a decision to promote an officer—an officer aggrieved by the decision who is entitled to appeal under a directive of the commissioner;

(d) for a decision mentioned in section 94(1)(d)\(^\text{26}\)—the person the other Act allows to appeal.

Stay of operation of decisions etc.

97.(1) The commissioner may stay a decision appealed against to secure the effectiveness of the appeal.

(2) A stay—

(a) may be given on conditions the commissioner considers appropriate; and

(b) operates for the period decided by the commissioner; and

(c) may be revoked or amended by the commissioner.

(3) The period of a stay specified by the commissioner must not extend past the time when the commissioner decides the appeal.

(4) The starting of an appeal against a decision affects the decision, or the carrying out of the decision, only if the decision is stayed.

Commissioner may decline to hear certain appeals

98.(1) The commissioner may decline to hear an appeal against a decision mentioned in section 94(1)(a) unless the appellant satisfies the commissioner that the appellant has used grievance procedures required to be used under a directive.

(2) The commissioner may decline to hear an appeal against a promotion decision unless the appellant satisfies the commissioner by oral or written submissions that the appellant has an arguable case for the appeal.

(3) The commissioner may decline to hear an appeal against any decision if—

\(^{26}\) Section 94(1)(d) is about decisions against which another Act allows a person to appeal.
(a) the appellant has made an application to a court or tribunal in relation to the decision, whether or not the application has been fully decided; or

(b) the commissioner reasonably believes the appeal—
   (i) is frivolous or vexatious; or
   (ii) is misconceived or lacks substance; or
   (iii) should not be heard for another compelling reason.

(4) Before declining to hear an appeal under subsection (3)(b), the commissioner may ask the appellant to establish by oral or written submissions that the appellant has an arguable case for the appeal.

Appeal is by way of review

99.(1) The commissioner must decide an appeal by reviewing the decision appealed against.

(2) For an appeal against a decision about a promotion or disciplinary action, the commissioner must decide the appeal on the basis of the evidence available to the decision maker when the decision was made, unless the commissioner allows other evidence to be taken into account.

Commissioner’s duties on appeal

100. In hearing and deciding an appeal, the commissioner must—
   (a) observe the principles of natural justice; and
   (b) act as quickly, and with as little formality and technicality, as is consistent with a fair and proper consideration of the issues.

Commissioner may decide procedures

101.(1) The commissioner—
   (a) is not bound by the rules of evidence; and
   (b) may inform himself or herself in the way, and to the extent, the commissioner considers appropriate; and
   (c) may decide the persons (other than the appellant) who are the parties to the appeal; and
(d) may decide the appeal without a hearing if the parties to the appeal agree; and
(e) may hear and decide any issue relevant to the appeal; and
(f) may decide the procedures to be followed in the appeal, including, for example, whether—
   (i) the appeal should be heard with other appeals; and
   (ii) the parties should be heard together or separately; and
   (iii) the parties should be heard, or evidence or submissions taken, by way of video link or another form of communication.

(2) However, the commissioner must comply with this part and the procedural rules that may be prescribed under a regulation.

Representation of parties

102.(1) A party to an appeal may appear personally or by an agent, but may not be represented by a lawyer.

(2) However, a party to an appeal about a promotion decision may be represented by an agent only with the commissioner’s leave.

Commissioner’s powers on appeal

103.(1) In hearing an appeal, the commissioner may—
   (a) act in the absence of a person who has been given reasonable notice; and
   (b) receive evidence on oath or affirmation or by statutory declaration; and
   (c) require a public service employee to attend as a witness to give evidence or produce documents or things; and
   (d) require a public service employee attending as a witness to make an oath or affirmation.
(2) The commissioner may administer an oath or affirmation to a person appearing as a witness.

Decision on appeal

104.(1) In deciding an appeal, the commissioner may—

   (a) confirm the decision appealed against; or

   (b) for an appeal against a promotion decision—set the decision aside, and return the issue to the decision maker with a copy of the commissioner’s decision and any directions permitted under a directive of the commissioner that the commissioner considers appropriate; or

   (c) for another appeal—set the decision aside, and substitute another decision or return the issue to the decision maker with a copy of the commissioner’s decision and any directions the commissioner considers appropriate.

(2) In deciding an appeal against a promotion decision, the commissioner may set the decision aside only if the commissioner finds—

   (a) that the recruitment or selection process was deficient; or

   (b) that the appellant demonstrated the highest level of merit overall.

Commissioner may reopen decided appeals

105. The commissioner may reopen an appeal that has been decided if the commissioner is satisfied there are compelling reasons for hearing and deciding it again.

Jurisdiction of Industrial Relations Commission

106.(1) This section is to be read in conjunction with the Industrial Relations Act 1999.

(2) The Industrial Relations Commission may hear and decide, as an industrial matter, an application by a person aggrieved by a matter mentioned in section 95(4).

(3) The Industrial Relations Commission may not hear or decide, as an industrial matter, an application by a person about a decision against which the person has appealed to the commissioner.

Protective appeals

107.(1) An officer who is promoted in a department and who could have appealed against the promotion of someone else in the department or another department may appeal against the other promotion under a regulation or a directive of the commissioner.

(2) Subsection (1) applies even though the time within which the officer may appeal against the other promotion has expired.

(3) However, the commissioner may hear and decide the appeal only if the appeal against the officer’s own promotion is allowed.

PART 8—REMOVAL OF STATUTORY OFFICE HOLDERS WHO ARE TERM APPOINTEES

What is a “statutory office”

108.(1) A “statutory office” is an office established under an Act to which a person may only be appointed by the Governor in Council or a Minister.

(2) It is immaterial whether an appointment may only be made after a recommendation or other process.

Who is a “term appointee”

109.(1) A “term appointee” is a person appointed to a statutory office

27 Section 95(4) is about decisions that can not be appealed against because the appeal would involve the commissioner or employees of the office of the public service, or a matter that has been heard by the Industrial Relations Commission.
under an Act that provides the appointee holds the office for a term specified under the Act, in the appointment instrument or in another instrument.

(2) It is immaterial whether the office is held full-time or part-time.

(3) A person is not a term appointee because of appointment as any of the following—

(a) the holder of an office under an Act that provides the holder may or must be removed from office following an address or resolution of the Legislative Assembly;

(b) the Director of Public Prosecutions or Deputy Director of Public Prosecutions appointed under the Director of Public Prosecutions Act 1984;

(g) a member of the police service;

(h) an officer of the parliamentary service;

(i) the holder of an office declared under a regulation for this section.

(4) A person appointed to a statutory office is not a term appointee merely because, under an Act, the person stops holding the office on reaching a particular age.

Removal of term appointees

110.(1) The Governor in Council may remove a term appointee from office at any time.
(2) The Governor in Council may remove a term appointee from office under subsection (1) despite another Act or the conditions of the term appointee’s appointment or contract of employment.

(3) This section does not stop removal of a term appointee apart from this section.

Example—

It is stated in another Act that a person holding a particular statutory office provided for by the Act may be removed from office for a list of reasons, for example, incompetence and the commission of an indictable offence. A person holding the office is a term appointee under this part. Therefore, a person holding the office may be removed from office not only under the Act mentioned, but also under this section.

Re-employment and other entitlements

111.(1) This section applies to a person removed from a statutory office under section 110.

(2) If the person, at the time of appointment to the statutory office or an earlier continuous appointment to the statutory office or another statutory office, was an officer who had been in continuous employment in the capacity of an officer for at least 5 years, the person is entitled to be employed in the way stated in subsection (3).

(3) The person is entitled to be employed as an officer—

(a) at the classification level at which the person would have been employed if the person had continued in employment as an officer; and

(b) on the remuneration to which the person would have been entitled if the person had continued in employment as an officer; and

(c) for duties appropriate to the person’s classification level and qualifications.

(4) The commissioner has the function of identifying appropriate employment in which the person may be employed.

(5) The commissioner may direct a department’s chief executive to employ the person, if the employment is in the chief executive’s department.

(6) If the person is employed according to the person’s entitlements under this section, the person is not entitled to compensation for being removed from the statutory office.

(7) Subsection (6) applies despite the conditions of the person’s appointment or contract of employment as a term appointee.

(8) Apart from subsection (6), this part does not affect the person’s right to claim compensation or other entitlements under the conditions of the person’s appointment or contract of employment applying when the appointment or employment ends.

(9) The person may only claim under the conditions of the person’s appointment or contract of employment compensation and other entitlements as if the person’s appointment or employment had been terminated as permitted under the conditions or as if the person’s term of office had ended.

PART 9—GENERAL AND TEMPORARY EMPLOYEES

Employment of general employees

112.(1) A chief executive may employ a person as a general employee to perform work of a type not ordinarily performed by an officer.

(2) The employment may be—

(3) A directive may prescribe anything necessary or convenient to be prescribed—

(a) to enable a directive to be made under subsection (1) or (2); or

(b) for carrying out or giving effect to a directive under subsection (1) or (2); or

(c) because of the making of a directive under subsection (1) or (2).

PART 10—MISCELLANEOUS

(3) However, this section has no effect on the Industrial Relations Act 1999, section 276.28

(4) Without limiting subsection (2), awards and industrial agreements do not apply to an excluded person.

(5) A decision about an excluded matter cannot be challenged, appealed against, reviewed, quashed, set aside, or called in question in another way, under the Judicial Review Act 1991.

28 Section 276 (Power to amend or void contracts)
(6) Subsection (5) does not apply to a decision about an officer who is employed on tenure and referred to in subsection (1), definition “excluded matter”, paragraph (a) or (b).

Application of Industrial Relations Act to public service employees

116A.(1) Public service employees are employees for the Industrial Relations Act 1999.

(2) Subsection (1) is subject to sections 106(3) and 116(2).29
