Queensland Police Welfare Club Act 1970

An Act to assist in the revival of the Queensland Police Welfare Club and for that purpose to provide for office-bearers and a general committee of the club and for the appointment of an auditor

Preamble

Whereas in the year 1934 there was formed an association called the Queensland Police Welfare Club (the club) and under the rules of the club (the rules) the management and control of its affairs were and still are entrusted to the general committee of the club.

And whereas under the rules the general committee of the club consists of the office-bearers who (other than the trustees) shall be elected at the annual general meeting of the club and a number of members of the club duly elected at an annual meeting of the club.

And whereas under the rules the trustees are 2 in number and shall be elected at a general meeting of the club and shall hold office until death, resignation or removal from office.

And whereas the last election of office-bearers (including trustees) and of members of the club to constitute the general committee of the club occurred on 30 September 1965 and it is doubtful whether, under the rules, the persons then elected (other than the trustees) now constitute the general committee of the club.

And whereas neither of the trustees then elected has died, resigned or been removed from office.

And whereas since January 1965 the club has been dormant.

And whereas the affairs and assets of the club cannot be administered in accordance with the rules unless there are office-bearers and a general committee of the club and an auditor of the club's affairs.

And whereas it is desired to revive the club and to ensure that its affairs and assets are administered in accordance with the rules.
